Ward 2 vote count had no effect on races

Only five votes were cast on the voting machine that broke down in Ward 2 at the May 20 primary election. When the defective machine was opened, the number votes cast was 260 and resulted no change in the outcome of any of the races.

With the addition of the Ward 2 votes, the official count shows that a total of 3,326 voters cast their votes in election.

Hilliary Clinton picked up 214 votes in Ward 2 to run her total vote in Morgan to 2,712. Barack Obama received 14 votes in Ward 2, giving him a total of 233 votes. John Edwards got two Ward 2 votes and 14 voters voted "uncommitted."

Bruce Lunsford, who won the nomination in statewide voting to face U.S. Senator Mitch McConnell in November, picked up 129 votes in Ward 2, giving him a total vote here of 1,439. Greg Fischer, Lunsford's closest competitor, received 68 additional votes. His final total here was 767.

In the race for the Democrat nomination for State Senator in the 25th Senatorial District, Pete Frye added 138 votes in Ward 2 to give him a total of 1,404 votes. His opponent, Michael "Whitey" Adkins, picked up 91 votes in the precinct to give him a total vote of 1,237. Adkins, who won the nomination in district wide voting, will face Republican incumbent, Senator Robert Stivers, in the fall.

gave their lives for our freedom," Terry said. "As we gather here today, it is our duty to keep veterans' memories alive. It is our duty to carry on their stories, and pay tribute to what they gave to America and to most of the world."

Terry introduced Mayor Bob Nickell, a guest speaker, who served in the U.S. Marine Corps 1967-1976, and ascended to the rank of captain.

"We had a special saying in the Marines," Nickell said. "It was, 'With anything you touch, try to leave it in better shape than when you found it.' That is what Marines have always tried to do, and we were always prepared to give our lives."

Following Nickell's address, Terry introduced senior veteran Andrew "Jake" Bradley, who was wounded in World War II, and discussed the importance of lauding veterans.

"Our veterans are leaving us everyday," Terry said. "That is why it is important to tell our children and grandchildren not to spit on the flag or heckle veterans. Our soldiers are not fighting for politicians. They are fighting to restore peace in torn nations

The ceremony included a Blackhawk military helicopter flyover during the program's invocation.

Judge Executive Tim Conley, also a guest speaker, expressed appreciation to local veterans and veterans' groups.

"We are here today not just to honor the veterans buried in this cemetery," Conley said. "We are here to honor the veterans buried on every hill and along side every country church. The beautiful military tributes at veterans' funerals mean so much to so many, and I want to thank our veterans' groups for that."

"Our veterans have given their time, and they ask for nothing in return. They have earned everything we can possibly do for them. The men and women who have made the ultimate sacrifice are never forgotten - even those who were never returned home. Jesus Christ knows where each one of those souls were laid down, no matter where in the world they are."

Conley also recognized Dr. C.C. Smith, owner of West Liberty Memorial Gardens and Mausoleum, for his efforts to commemorate local veterans.

"This is a wonderful cemetery," Conley said. "It is also has the only veterans' memorial of its kind in the state. Dr. Smith generously donated this land, and he didn't wait to receive a check from the government to create this monument. To show our appreciation, I am proclaiming today 'Dr. C.C. Smith Day' in Morgan County."

Terry concluded the ceremony with a message to all veterans.

"It has been an honor to stand with everyone to pay my respects to our veterans," Terry said. "Remember this: man must die if he is ever to pass to God. God is in every ship, airplane, helicopter, tank and foxhole; may our flags always fly under His name. God bless America."

Veterans were also hailed before the benediction with a gun salute from the DAV Honor Guard led by Commander Jimmy Darrell Easterling.

Race, religion and rurality Should Hillary reject racist votes?

Race, religion and rurality were among the keys to Hillary Clinton's 35-point victory in Kentucky's presidential primary, according to the exit poll taken for national news organizations. (There were no exit polls in Oregon, which Barack Obama won, because that state's election was held entirely by mail.) The results, similar to those in West Virginia, prompted some pundits to say Clinton should announce that she doesn't want racially motivated votes.

Among Kentucky Democrats, 21 percent said the race of the candidates was important to their vote, and 81 percent of those voted for Clinton. Among whites, it was 86 percent. (Asked about gender, 16 percent said it was important, and 79 percent of those voted for Clinton. Most were women.) The results of the exit poll were very similar to the poll taken in West Virginia a week ago.

Race is a tricky subject for pollsters, because many people won't speak honestly about it to strangers. Sometimes related questions reveal more, and that seemed to be the case when Kentucky Democrats were asked about Obama's former pastor, the Rev. Jeremiah Wright; 54 percent said Obama at least somewhat shares Wright's controversial views, and 84 percent of those voters went for Clinton. She did even better, 91 percent, among those who said the two men share "a lot" of views.

The views of a pastor are more important if voters go to church a lot. In Kentucky, 45 percent of Democratic voters said they attend church at least weekly, and it's reasonable to conclude that many of them can't understand how he could attend a church for 20 years and not somewhat share the views of its pastor. More than half of the voters said Obama does not share their values, and 89 percent of those who said he doesn't voted for Clinton.

Among voters who live in rural areas, Clinton won 77-17; small towns went for her by 69-24, and she carried suburbs 57-39. Obama won cities 56-38. The rural vote in Kentucky's Democratic primary was 45 percent of the total, mirroring the state's share of rural population, one of the nation's highest. Small towns were 13 percent and suburbs 29 percent. In several rural counties, Clinton won more than 90 percent of the vote. CNN analyst and superdelegate Donna Brazile said there were other reasons for Clinton's landslide, such as the fact her husband carried Kentucky twice and campaigned hard for her. Education was also a factor, a key in Obama's win in Oregon, according to a telephone poll conducted there.

CNN analyst David Gergen, who was an aide to Bill Clinton and Republican presidents, said Hillary Clinton should talk to voters directly about the race and Wright issues. He said the Kentucky exit poll "raises the question of whether she should say, 'If you're going to vote against him because he's black, I don't want your vote.' I see no reason why she shouldn't take the high road in the closing days of this campaign." Fellow analyst and former Bill Clinton aide Paul Begala said Wright and Obama's character would be better subjects for Clinton, because it is hard to talk directly about race, especially if the speaker is white. In any event, Begala said, it is more important for Obama to talk about economic issues and transcend race. Another analyst, Jeffrey Toobin, said some pointed Clinton comments about race would bring her long-term political benefit. "She might as well say it," Toobin said, "because it would make a difference."

Troops Need Tools to Win

By Ed Feulner

For many Americans, Memorial Day marks little more than the start of summer. It is a day off to mow the lawn, go to the pool or grill in the backyard.

But it is no holiday for America's best. Memorial Day will find our troops fighting terrorists and other enemies of freedom around the globe. For their sake, let's ponder what this holiday really means.

Recently, my wife and I visited Arlington Cemetery, walking along the rows of American heroes and celebrating the well-lived life a recently deceased friend.

Those simple grave markers tell great stories. Many represent those who served bravely overseas, then came home to raise families, start businesses and build a great nation. Others signify those who never made it back. They made the ultimate sacrifice so the rest of us could live in freedom and prosperity.

Still others memorialize those who died in the conflict that created Arlington and so many other national cemeteries. Their service in our Civil War helped end slavery, allowing even those who came here in chains to experience freedom.

Of course, Memorial Day is also a time to celebrate the living, those Americans who voluntarily don our country's uniform and fight for liberty. It is worth remembering that every person who has enlisted since late 2001 has done so knowing that we are at war, and understanding that combat experience is likely.

These volunteers are the cream of the crop, and it is amazing that such a small group of people is able to accomplish so much. Less than 1 percent of our country's population serves in the military, yet the U.S. projects power worldwide.

A major criticism of the Vietnam War was that, because college students could defer service, lower-income Americans were drafted to fight while their wealthier peers stayed home. But that has changed dramatically with our modern, all-volunteer force.

Two years ago, former Heritage Foundation economist Tim Kane used Pentagon data to determine which ZIP codes recruits hailed from. He found that increasing number of upper- and middle-class Americans are volunteering to serve their country.

"The percentage of recruits from the poorest American neighborhoods (with one-fifth of the U.S. population) declined from 18 percent in 1999 to 14.6 percent in 2003, 14.1 percent in 2004, and 13.7 percent in 2005," Kane wrote.

So what do we owe these brave volunteers, other than our respect and gratitude? Mainly, to give them what they deserve: the tools to win. That means spending what is necessary for new weapons systems, including aircraft carriers and fighter jets. That is not too much to ask of a nation as wealthy as ours.

MSU lists dates for upcoming summer sessions

MOREHEAD, Ky.—Even though Spring Commencement has just happened, Morehead State University students are looking ahead to the summer and fall academic terms.

To accommodate a wider range of students, there will be four summer terms offered this year, including an intercession.

Registration for the general Summer term, Summer Intercession, Summer I and II, as well as Fall 2008 will be available online at MSU's Web site (www.moreheadstate.edu). Students may view course offerings and complete the registration process through the Datatel WebAdvisor.

It may be accessed from the MSU home page's current student link, then by selecting online services and finally WebAdvisor from the Quick Login drop-down box. Classes for the summer and fall will be offered according to the following schedule:

Summer Intercession: Monday, May 19 through Friday, May 30.

Summer: Monday, June 2, through Friday, July 25.

Summer I: Monday, June 2, through Friday, June 27.

Summer II: Monday, July 7, through Friday, Aug. 1.

Fall: Monday, Aug. 18, through Friday, Dec. 12.

For those not yet enrolled who are considering attending MSU, there is still time to submit an application for the summer or fall terms. Prospective students may call the Office of Enrollment Services at (606) 783-2000 or (800) 585-6781 opt #1 for admissions assistance.

Students also will be able to view and pay their summer bill(s) online via WebAdvisor. Fall 2008 billing will be available for viewing and payment shortly after July 1. Those who are registered for the summer and/or fall terms will receive monthly paper billing statements to keep them informed of their account status. Account balances are due in full one week prior to the start of class for each semester attending.

Although MSU no longer offers a deferred payment plan, students may take advantage of a different option to pay their bill at a later date, while at the same time, confirming that they will be attending classes.

If any student is unable to pay his or her full balance prior to the deadline, he or she may complete an online Statement of Intent, which explains payment requirements. The online statement must be completed by set deadlines to prevent a student's class schedule from being canceled. This also applies to any student who receives financial aid or scholarships, or whose college expenses are being paid by an outside agency. Students may access the Statement of Intent via WebAdvisor.

The pay-in-full or Statement of Intent deadlines are as follows: May 27, Summer and Summer I; June 30 for Summer II and Aug. 11 for Fall.

MSU offers online bachelor's degree "completer" programs designed primarily for graduates of the Kentucky Community & Technical College System (KCTCS). Courses are offered via the Internet and at the regional campuses, providing busy adults the opportunity to complete class work at a time and place convenient to them.

Textbooks for the classes are available from the University Bookstore, located in the Adron Doran University Center on the Morehead campus. Orders may be placed by calling (888) STORE-05 or via the Internet at www.bookstore.moreheadstate.edu. Purchases will be shipped to the address specified by the student.

Additional information is available by calling the Office of Enrollment Services at (606) 783-2000; or the Office of the Registrar at (606) 783-2008.

Red Cross to hold benefit trail ride

Easy maintenance tips to improve fuel mileage

Proper maintenance from a professional shop with certified technicians can help drivers pump up their fuel efficiency.

(NU)—When gas prices rise, Americans start feeling a pinch where it hurts — in their pocket-books. But gas prices are no reason to stay home. AAA has some useful tips to help maximize your vehicle's fuel efficiency.

First, perform basic vehicle checks that will help maximize your miles per gallon:

- Check your air filter twice a year. A dirty filter reduces performance and increases fuel consumption.

- Check your tires monthly, and inflate to the recommended pressure. Under-inflated tires not only increase fuel use, they are a safety hazard.

Second, listen when your vehicle tells you something is wrong. Take your car in for service right away if you experience:

- Engine bucking, surging, stalling, misfire or poor performance. These symptoms indicate a problem that is wasting fuel.

- The "check engine" light comes on. This means exhaust emissions are too high and fuel economy is too low.

Third, consult your owner's manual for the recommended maintenance needed to keep your vehicle running efficiently. Have those services performed by a shop with certified technicians who can spot other problems that may affect fuel consumption.

Looking for a good shop? Visit the automotive page of AAA.com to find local AAA Approved Auto Repair facilities that meet and maintain high standards.

Finally, AAA reminds motorists that how you drive has the single greatest impact on how much fuel your vehicle burns.

Fuel-saving habits to consider include:

- Maintaining a steady speed. Cars require extra fuel when they accelerate, so avoid quick starts and stops that waste gas and are harder on vehicle components.

- Lighting you load of unneeded items in your vehicle; their added weight will increase fuel use.

- Traveling at moderate highway speeds. Higher speeds require more power and fuel to overcome air resistance.

- Using the air conditioner conservatively. Air conditioning requires lots of power. In cool weather around town, turn the air conditioner off, and open your windows. In hot weather or on the highway, set the air conditioning to a higher temperature. Where available, use "economy" or "recirculation" settings to reduce air conditioner operation and minimize the amount of hot outside air that must be cooled.

The Free Haircut

One day a florist goes to a barber for a haircut. After the cut he asks about his bill and the barber replies, "I cannot accept money from you. I'm doing community service this week."

The florist was pleased and left the shop.

When the barber goes to open his shop the next morning there is a thank you card and a dozen roses waiting for him at his door. Later, a cop comes in for a haircut, and when he tries to pay his bill, the barber again replies, "I cannot accept money from you. I'm doing community service this week."

The cop is happy and leaves the shop. The next morning when the barber goes to open up, there is a thank you card and a dozen donuts waiting for him at his door.

Later that day, a college professor comes in for a haircut, and when he tries to pay his bill, the barber again replies, "I cannot accept money from you. I'm doing community service this week."

The professor is very happy and leaves the shop. The next morning when the barber opens his shop, there is a thank you card and a dozen different books, such as, "How to Improve Your Business" and "Becoming More Successful."

Then, a congressman comes in for a haircut, and when he goes to pay his bill the barber again replies, "I cannot accept money from you. I'm doing community service this week."

The Congressman is very happy and leaves the shop. The next morning when the barber goes to open up, there are a dozen congressmen lined up waiting for a free haircut.

And that, my friends illustrates the fundamental difference between the citizens of our country and the members of our congress.

Vote carefully this year!

Don't smoke too much, drink too much, eat too much, or work too much. We're all on the road to the grave — but there's no reason to be in the passing lane.

Robert Orben

Mike A. Benton, Jr.

Mike A. Benton, Jr. died peacefully at his home, at Waco, Ky., on Friday, May 9, 2008.

He was preceded in death by his parents, Mary and Mike Benton, of Cannel City, Kentucky; his sister, Thelma (Donnie) Patrick, of Morgan County, Ky.; a brother, Grover (Goldie) Benton, of Hodgenville, Ky.; sister, Oakley (Ira) Smith, of Fairborn, Ohio, and his brother, Dorsey (Maxine) Benton, of Waynesville, Ohio.

Mike was born May 10, 1923, in Morgan County, Kentucky, to Mary and Mike Benton. He lived in the mountains of Morgan County until he joined the Army during World War II at the age of 19.

While serving with Company M 330th Infantry Regiment of the 83rd Infantry Division in Germany, he twice received a purple heart for being wounded and was taken as prisoner of war. After the war, Mike moved to Lexington, Ky, in 1947 where he met and married the love of his life, Juanita Hearn Benton. He was saved and joined Ashland Avenue Baptist Church that same year.

He worked as a plumber apprentice at R.L. Sander, then later as a plumber/pipefitter for many years most of which were with the John F. Humphrey Company. He worked on many large building projects in Lexington and surrounding counties including St. Joseph Hospital, UK Med Center, Rupp Arena and numerous buildings on Eastern Kentucky University campus. He continued to be a proud member of the Plumbers and Pipefitters Union, Local 452 until his death.

In 1972, his family moved to Madison County, at which time they moved their church membership to Waco Baptist Church. During this time he enjoyed square dancing with the Waco Square Dancers. Fishing, bird watching and spending time outdoors and enjoying nature were among his favorite activities.

Throughout his life, Mike and his wife were actively involved in field trials where they hunted quail from horseback with pointer and setter bird dog breeds.

He played the dulcimer and enjoyed folk, mountain and gospel music. Mike had a quite gentle kindness that was evident from the moment you met him. He was a devoted Christian and was highly respected by all those who knew him. The only thing stronger than his pride and love he felt for his wife and family is the price, love and respect they in turn felt for him.

Mike and Juanita were blessed to celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary on June 14, 2007.

Mr. Benton is survived by his loving wife, Juanita Hearn Benton; a son, Larry (Melody) Wayne Benton, of Lexington; two daughters, Lynnell (Tom) Benton Webb, and Lydia (James) Glo Eaves, both of Richmond; three grandchildren, Melissa (Don) Berry, of Niceville, Florida, Larry (Michaelle) Benton, Jr., of Gulfport, Mississippi, and Matthew Webb, of Richmond; six great grandchildren, Rebekah (Brad) Ellis, Rachael Betty, Raela Berry, of Niceville, Florida, Christian Benton, Marissa Benton and Samuel Benton, of Gulfport, Mississippi; sisters, Flora (Ronald) Perkins, of Cannel City, Susan (Durwood) Oakley, of Beavercreek, Ohio; numerous nieces and nephews.

He is also survived by dear, lifelong friends, Evelyn Smith, of Lexington, Dewey and Ethel Mullins, of Berea.

Funeral services were conducted at noon Tuesday, May 13, at Kerr Brothers Funeral Home, with burial following in the Lexington Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Nathan Sebastian, David Hearn, Don Mullins, Eddie Marshall, Frank Turpin, and Don Maupin.

Memorial contributions were suggested to Waco Baptist Church, 3646 New Irvine Road, Waco, Ky. 40385, or the Baptist Faith Missions, P.O. Box 471280, Lake Monroe, Florida 32747-1280.

IN MEMORIAM

In Loving Memory Of
Christopher S. Manning
May 2006

Two years have passed away
But your memory still lingers on each and every day

God looked around the garden
And chose you to fulfill the space

He looked down upon the earth
And saw your smiling face

He put his arms around you
And lifted you to rest

God's garden must be beautiful
For He only takes the best

He knew that you were weary
And He knew that you were in pain

And God only knows
How much we miss you
But you left the earth
With a heaven to gain

The roads were getting rougher
And the hills getting harder to climb
So He closed your weary eyelids
And whispered peace be thine

We miss you so much.
Love,
Mamaw and Papaw
Ferguson,
Mom and family

The Magnificent cliffs of Wolfe County

Did you know that Wolfe County, Kentucky, has a valuable natural resource that, each year draws thousands of visitors from all over the world?

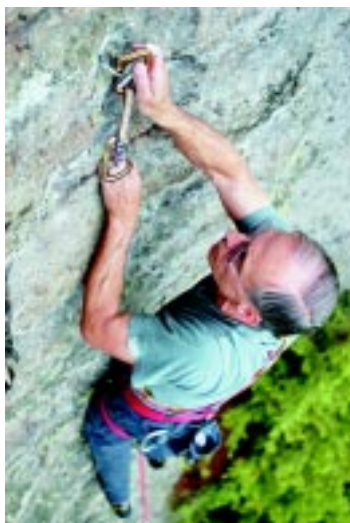

It's true. Over the past few years, Wolfe County has come to be internationally recognized as having some of the finest rock climbing cliffs in North America. Climbers from all over the globe, including other renowned climbing areas, such as Colorado, Utah, and Wyoming, and even from many European countries, come here to climb the sheer sandstone cliffs of Wolfe County, Kentucky.

Rock climbing in the Red River Gorge region of Eastern Kentucky has been growing exponentially since the early 1980's. In 2000 about 4,500 persons climbed on 90 established routes in Wolfe County. In 2007, about 16,000 visitors climbed more than 400 routes throughout the county.

Almost all of the climbers come to Wolfe County from outside this area. Rock climbers bring money into the local economy—staying in motels, rental cabins, and campgrounds around the county and patronizing many local businesses—gas stations, restaurants, stores, etc.

Although rock climbing is generally regarded as an extreme sport, the accident rate has been surprisingly low, both universally and in Wolfe County. Despite tens of thousands of trips made up the rock faces in this area, over the past ten years, there have been only a few broken bones and sprains.

Climbing visitors come to Wolfe County not merely to climb, but to do so in surroundings of spectacular beauty—Corbin sandstone cliffs, rock shelters, waterfalls, stone arches, and trails through hillsides of mountain laurel, rhododendron, hemlocks, and hundreds of varieties of wildflowers. Wildlife also abounds in these places. We are blessed in Wolfe County with the breathtaking beauty of our natural surroundings.

Want to check out our county's climbing areas and watch a few world-class athletes ascend seemingly un-climbable cliffs? Just follow the instructions below on how to locate and access the four most popular of Wolfe County's eight rock climbing areas. All are free public access.

Muir Valley Nature Preserve

Muir Valley is the largest single rock climbing venue in the Eastern U.S., based on attendance and number of established climbs. It is privately owned by Rick and Liz Weber and is open to free public access. It is about 400 acres in size with about 7 miles of cliff line and over 300 established climbing routes. Muir will see about 13,000 climbing visitors this year. There are several miles of narrow hiking trails in Muir branching out from the main trail along the valley floor and rising steeply up to the numerous established climbs. The guidebook: "Red River Gorge Rock Climbs" by Ray Ellington (published by Wolverine Press) provides specific locations and approach instructions for the many climbing areas within Muir Valley. Location information is also available on the web at: <http://www.muirvalley.com/maps.php>

To get there:

Go north from Campton on the Mountain Parkway to the Pine Ridge Exit (40). Turn south on 715 at the Corner Marathon Station and go about 0.4 miles past the Rogers Elementary School. There is one main entrance to Muir Valley located at 314 Muir Road, off KY 2016 (Big Andy) about 1.4 miles south of KY 715. A large green sign with four road names, including "Muir Road" is located on the east side of KY 2016. Follow the gravel road and the Muir Road signs, for about a mile, taking two left forks. Continue straight past the Muir Parking Lot

Roadside Crag

Roadside Crag is a medium-sized, very popular rock climbing area located on Ky. 11 south of the Slade exit on the Mountain Parkway. It is privately owned and is open to free public access. There are 51 established rock climbing routes at this location.

To get there:

From the Slade exit of the Mountain Parkway, go south on Ky. 11 6.5 miles to a large gravel parking lot on the right (west) side of the road. This is Green Thumb Park. Cross the road near the south end of the parking lot and find a narrow footpath leading up toward the cliffs. This moderate trail meets the cliffs after about 200 yards and continues to the right and left along the walls. Most of the climbing routes are to the right of the point where the approach trail meets the cliff.

Torrent Falls Via Ferrata (Owned by Mark and Cathy Meyer family)

Torrent Falls Via Ferrata is a commercial rock adventure park located on Ky, 11 south of the Slade exit on the Mountain Parkway. There is a fee charged for climbers; there is free access for spectators. This is not a climbing venue in the strict sense, but rather a via ferrata activity. This activity entails climbing up and traversing the rock face of a horseshoe-shaped canyon using steel handles and footholds affixed to the rock. Participants

Blossom End Rot can ruin tomato harvest

Nothing can ruin a mouth watering tomato more than reaching for one on the vine only to find an ugly, flattened spot on it. If the ugly spot is located on the fruit opposite the stem end, it is likely blossom end rot, a disease caused by a lack of calcium that commonly occurs in tomatoes but can also affect eggplant, peppers and many cucurbits.

Blossom end rot spots develop into dark brown, leathery decays that may affect half of the tomato. Calcium is an essential part of the chemical "glue" that binds cells together within the fruit. When fruits are enlarging rapidly, sufficient amounts of calcium do not reach the end of the fruit. This causes cells to come apart, resulting in a rot or decay in that area. Calcium does not move easily from other plant parts, so any disruption in the plant's uptake can result in a deficiency.

Soils in Kentucky are rarely deficient in calcium, but water plays a critical role in the plant's uptake and distribution of calcium. So maintaining an even supply of moisture is important in controlling blossom end rot. However, to be sure that a soil is not calcium-deficient, soil tests should be taken, and if needed, it can be applied as lime prior to planting.

Irrigate plants as needed, and use mulch to conserve soil moisture. Irrigate on a consistent basis. Don't allow plants to become stressed from too much or too little water. Avoid wetting foliage as much as possible as this could encourage fungal and bacterial diseases to develop on the plant.

Trickle or drip irrigation is an excellent way of getting water to plants without the risk of wetting the foliage or splashing soil onto the foliage which can also lead to disease problems. In addition, excessive amounts of ammonium tend to depress a plant's calcium uptake. Avoid using urea or fertilizers high in ammonium. Instead, choose fertilizers high in nitrate. Calcium nitrate is an excellent nitrogen fertilizer, although it is more expensive than other nitrogen sources.

For more information on how to keep disease from dampening your gardening enthusiasm, contact Sarah Fannin-Holliday, Morgan County Extension Agent for Agriculture and Natural Resources at 743-3292.

Only My Opinion!

By Richard Stamper

In Memory of Richard
Previously printed in the Wolfe County News

What happens when the electricity goes off? I know what happens. I'm sitting in her dark, big deal! I can get up and go to bed with a flash light. I can sleep well, knowing my wind-up alarm clock will still go off on time, but what about our children, or their children?

I was in college when I saw my first hand-held calculator. It added 2+2 and came up with four. Most math teachers wouldn't allow them in the classroom. They demanded that I learn, LEARN, how to add 2+2 and come up with 4 for an answer, NOT that I learn how to press a button and let the calculator figure it out.

I'm not against progress, and I know that we have to teach our young people to use new technology. My great-grandfather didn't want electricity in his house. He was afraid his wife would forget how to cook on a wood stove, and maybe I'm like him. I'm afraid of the future that I don't understand, but I'm also afraid that if the electricity goes off, our grandchildren will be lost.

I write this article with a pen and paper and I could write it using pokeberry ink and a quill pen if I had to. I don't want us to become so dependent on computers that our children and grandchildren can't write without a lap-top or add 2+2 without a calculator. Our young people are depending more and more on computers. What happens when the power goes off? And it will some day, wide-spread.

I was in a grocery store not long ago. I wanted to buy a loaf of bread. They had several loaves of bread, but they couldn't sell me one because their computer was down and they couldn't scan the bar code. They didn't know what to charge me, plus their cash registers wouldn't open. I ate bologna and crackers that night instead of a bologna sandwich. Thank you, Computer!

Preserve me, O God, for in Thee do I put my trust. David was saying, protect me Lord, care for me as you would a helpless child. I am needy and helpless, but Lord, I belong to you, I am your child.

Today with sadness, sorrow, unemployment, sickness abounding everywhere, we need the Lord's protection. Some folks face trials that are beyond their human endurance. Broken homes bring heartache to many, especially children. In view of these difficulties, there is help. The Lord is ready to meet any and all who call upon Him, believing He will respond.

The Sixteenth Psalm offers encouragement and assurance. David was running at the time he wrote this Psalm. He was running from his son. Such sorrow and humiliation he experienced. But the importance of this Psalm is to show that even in the midst of deep despair, David sought the Lord. Would the Lord fail him? Read on. "The Lord is the portion of my inheritance and of my cup:

Thou maintainest my lot. I have a goodly heritage, writes David. Somehow in the midst of his problems, David looked up and knew what the Lord was doing for him and Who God was. The Lord is never found by looking down for Him. One may be down in the depths of a situation, but once that one looks up and acknowledges the Lord, He is there. His promises are to whosoever will

The closing verse of this

Psalm is one to carry with us all day. Earthly jobs fade, plans fall apart, money and positions are lost... but God remains faithful. You may have read a poster that states, when all else fails read the instructions. That may be good advice to follow. Read the Word and the Lord's instructions. David wrote. Thou wilt show me the path of life; in Thy presence is fullness of joy; at Thy right hand there are pleasures for evermore.

East Valley Kindergarten class completes unit on the life cycle of the butterfly

Mrs. Hammons' Kindergarten class at East Valley Elementary has just completed a unit on the life cycle of the butterfly. Mrs. Kimberly Cox, from the Morgan County Extension Office, delivered caterpillars to the classroom on April 3. Students watched the transformation of the caterpillars turning into beautiful butterflies. They then brought in flowers to feed them until they were ready to be released outside. Pictured are Mrs. Hammons and Mrs. Bev with students seated around the outdoor classroom. Also pictured is one of the butterflies on Mrs. Hammons hand before it took flight! We would like to thank Kimberly for this very educational and fun experience.

Bush recognized for excellence in Physical Educ.

Jennifer Bush

The United States Achievement Academy announced recently that Jennifer Bush, from West Liberty, has been recognized by the United States Achievement Academy as a student of excellence in Physical Education.

This is a prestigious honor very few students can hope to attain. In fact, the Academy recognizes fewer than 10% of all American high school students.

Jennifer, who attends Morgan County High School, was nominated for this honor by Jerry Allen, a teacher at the school. Jennifer will appear in the United States Achievement Academy's Official Yearbook which is published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important in America's history. Certainly, United States Achievement students should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Founder of the United States Achievement Academy.

The Academy recognizes students upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, and other qualified sponsors and upon the Standards for Selection set forth by the Academy. The Standard for Selection include academic, performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability and recommendation from a qualified sponsor.

Jennifer is the daughter of Johnny and Lynn Bush, of West Liberty; the granddaughter of William and Anna Ruth Harper and Loretta Adkins, of West Liberty; and the great granddaughter of Elizabeth Francis, of West Liberty.

Cougars lose to E. Carter in district; fall to Greenup in regional baseball tourney

By David Patrick
East Carter - 5
Morgan County - 1
East Carter scored three runs in the first inning and then rode the dominant pitching of Ryan Seagraves to a 5-1 win over Morgan County in the finals of the 62nd District.
Seagraves surrendered just four its and struck out five in the complete game effort. The Gougars scored their only run in the fifth inning when Cameron Dunn singled and scored on a sacrifice fly by Joel Nickell.
The Raiders wasted no time in putting Morgan's feet to the fire with five hits in the first inning alone. After Derek Stapleton and Dylan McDavid collected back-to-back singles, Eddie Seagraves brought both runners around with a single. Craig Brammer followed with a RBI hit to score Seagraves for a 3-0 Raider lead.
Brammer reached safely and scored in the fourth to make it a 4-0 game. East Carter's final run came on a solo homer by catcher

Tyler Back in the sixth inning. Meanwhile, hits were few and far in between for the Cougars. Bubba Loudermilk accounted for the team's first safety with a single to lead off the second inning. Dunn, Tyler Adkins, and Mitchell Harvey each finished with a hit apiece.
Cougar pitcher Joel Nickell faced 23 batters through five complete, giving up four earned runs, eight hits, and no walks.

Greenup - 12
Morgan County - 2
Greenup County used the opening round of the 16th Region Tournament to prove that it's a legitimate state championship contender. The Musketeers scored five runs in the first inning and never looked back on their way to a 12-2 mercy of Morgan County at Sonny Allen Field.
It was the Cougars that drew first blood with a two-run top of the first. Jon Lopez tripled to lead off the game and scored on a Joel Nickell RBI single. Tyler Adkins reached safely on a fielder's choice and eventually came home on a run-scoring ground out by Mitchell Harvey for a 2-0 Morgan County advantage.

But Greenup wasted no time in roughing up Lopez. Eric Craft doubled and stole third to begin the home half of the first/ Billy Logan's RBI single scored Craft to trim the deficit to one. Greenup then tied it when Logan scored on a Lopez wild pitch before adding three more runs for a 5-2 lead.
The Musketeers put the game away with a four-run second inning before adding three more in the third. Logan supplied the big hit of the frame with a two-run homer. Greenup reached Lopez for a combined eight hits over the two innings.
Trailing by 10 runs in the fifth inning, the Cougars had a shot to extend the game. Lopez drew a lead-off walk, stole second, and advanced to third on a ground out by Tyler Adkins. But reliever Ethan Hardin got Loudermilk to ground out to third base to end the game.
Greenup County's Kyle Martin pitched four innings of three-hit baseball to get the win. Martin faced 16 batters, striking out five and walking two,
Joel Nickell relieved Lopez in the fourth inning, surrendering no runs on one hit.

Cougar tennis player is winner of State Sportsmanship Award

By David Patrick
Morgan County senior Lacy May is the 2008 recipient of the Sportsmanship Award, which was presented at the conclusion of the State Tennis Tournament in Lexington.
The award is among the sport's most prestigious, with May being selected from a field of 192 players.
"Lacy is the epitome of what a student athlete should be," said Morgan County coach, Vickie Oldfield. "She treats her teammates and opponents with respect and kindness. Lacy is well liked by everyone. I can't imagine anyone being more deserving for the award."
Not only did May win the award (an impressive trophy—actually larger than the state championship trophy itself), but she and teammate Emily McKenzie also won their first round doubles match against Metcalfe County's Taylor Noe and Sydney Edwards.

"To be selected for the sportsmanship award among all the great players there is a testament of the kind of person Lacy is," Oldfield said. "She's a wonderful young lady that excels on the court and in the classroom. I'm so happy for her."

May is the daughter of William and Michelle May of West

Liberty. She is the granddaughter of Sally May and the late Parker May as well as Bill Frank and Diana Lacy.

'THREE-PEAT': Morgan girls claim another regional tennis title

May and McKenzie win doubles; Clark wins 3 of 4 singles matches

By David Patrick
It won't be long 'til the Morgan County girls tennis team will need a trophy case all to itself. For the third straight season, the Lady Cougars brought home the big hardware as 15th region champions.
In doubles play, Lacy May and Emily McKenzie were dominant from beginning to end. The duo scored a 6-1,6-1 win over Preece and Maynard from Sheldon Clark in the opening round before disposing of Magoffin County's Shepard and Arnett, 6-1, 6-0, in the quarterfinals. McKenzie and May then beat Boyd and Castle of Lawrence County, 6-0, 6-1, to earn a spot in the finals.

Meanwhile, Ali Gregory and Monica McCowan were taking care of business as well, scoring a first round win over Paintsville's Sammons and Webb, 6-2, 6-3. Gregory and McCowan then defeated Holbrook and Holbrook from Prestonsburg, 6-2, 6-0, before ousting Lawrence County's Fyffe and Hardin (the region's second-seeded team), 7-5, 7-6, in the semifinals.

That set up an all Morgan County final with McKenzie and May beating Gregory and McCowan, 6-0, 6-1. All four girls qualified for the state tennis tournament at the University of Kentucky.

In singles play, Morgan County's Danielle Clark beat Morgan Blair of Johnson Central, 7-6, 6-4. Clark then came from behind to beat Pikeville's Shilpa Sachdova, 4-6, 6-0, 6-4, before losing to Amelia Watkins of Magoffin County, 0-6, 3-6, in the quarterfinals.
Danielle Dunn lost to Johnson Central's top-seed Hannah Phelps in a well played match. It was a remarkable effort considering Dunn is Morgan's sixth-seeded player.
Clark and Dunn both advanced to the state tournament, giving Morgan County six girls in the field.

Morgan County well represented at 2008 State Tennis Tournament

By David Patrick
Twelve local players qualified for the KHSAA State Tennis Tournament. The boys opened play in Lexington, with the girls taking the court in Berea. Both brackets closed the competition at the Boone Tennis Complex on the campus of the University of Kentucky.

In girls' singles, Danielle Clark was upset by Pikeville's Shikka Sachdeva, 0-6, 0-6. Also in singles, Danielle Dunn was beaten by E-town's Amanda Young, 0-6, 0-6.

As for girls' doubles, Ali Gregory and Monica McCowan lost to Hannah English and McCail Hedrick of Sacred Heart (the tourney's top overall doubles seed), 0-6, 0-6. However, Emily McKenzie and Lacy May beat Metcalf County's Taylor Noe and Sydney Edwards, 2-6, 6-4, 7-5. McKenzie and May then dropped a heartbreaker to Bowling Green's Penn and Henry, 6-4, 5-7, (9-7), 6-2.

On the boys' side, Andy Lewis lost in straight sets (6-0, 6-0) to Kentucky Country Day's Will Davis. Joseph Litteral lost to Zach Thomas of Central Hardin, 6-0, 6-0.

"Andy was a bit unlucky drawing the number six seed in his first round match," Cougar Coach Danny Clark. "The score is not indicative of how well Andy played throughout the match. Being our top-seeded player, Andy is used to playing the opposition's best player. But this had to be the best player he had faced all year."
"As for Joseph, it was very difficult environment for an eighth grader to be in. He was matched against someone much older and experienced. This will help him continue to develop because we expect him to be an important part of our team next year."

In doubles play, Parker May and Jared Curd fell to Owensboro Apollo's Nunley and Richards, 6-2, 6-1. Brothers Josh and John Blevins lost to Ashland's Nelson and Geremia, 6-1, 6-1.

"Both doubles teams played competitive in their respective matches," said Clark. "May and Curd were not intimidated by the counterparts from Owensboro. The Blevins brothers played long points in each of their games with Ashland Blazer. Those boys looked like they belonged in the state tournament."

— The NASCAR Update — Ky. Speedway Purchase Good For State, Not NASCAR

By Miranda Cantrell James
It's official: NASCAR Sprint Cup competition is finally coming to Kentucky Speedway in Sparta, thanks to a controversial businessman with whom race fans are very familiar.

Speedway Motorsports Inc. Chairman Bruton Smith announced last Thursday that he had purchased the northern Kentucky venue during a press conference at Lowe's Motor Speedway (LMS) in Concord, N.C.
According to a May 23 story in The Lexington Herald-Leader, Smith answered with a resolute "next year, yes" when asked if he expected NASCAR's most prestigious series to race at the once legally embattled track.

Those words represented a huge victory for Kentucky Speedway co-owner Jerry Carroll, who in 2005 filed an antitrust lawsuit against NASCAR and International Speedway Corporation (also controlled by NASCAR CEO Brian France) alleging a monopoly after the organizations thwarted Carroll's numerous attempts to secure a Cup date for the facility since its opening in 2000.
Gov. Steve Beshear, who traveled to Sunday's Coca-Cola 600 at LMS to meet with Smith, told The Herald-Leader last Thursday that a Cup event at Kentucky Speedway would have a "tremendous" economic impact on the commonwealth.

But what will Smith's acquisition of Kentucky Speedway mean for NASCAR as a whole? More of the same.
Kentucky Speedway is a 1.5-mile tri-oval, similar to many of the tracks Smith owns that currently dominate the Cup schedule, including LMS, Atlanta Motor Speedway, Texas Motor Speedway, Las Vegas Motor Speedway and more.

(Smith also owns Bristol Motor Speedway in Bristol, Tenn. — where many Morgan Countians travel to enjoy Cup racing every March and August — a high-banked short track that does not fit the 1.5-mile mold.)

NASCAR has been criticized heavily in recent years for a lack of competition, which some fans and analysts attribute to the large, flat 1.5-mile tracks, dubbed by their detractors as "cookie cutter" facilities.

Many NASCAR traditionalists have also not forgiven the sanctioning body for cutting the sport's oldest race, South Carolina's Southern 500 at Darlington Raceway, to schedule a second date at Auto Club Speedway in Fontana, Calif. — a slightly larger two-mile cookie cutter track.

Though a Cup date at Kentucky Speedway would allow many race fans to enjoy their favorite sport in their home state in addition to border states Tennessee, Virginia and Indiana, it will contribute to two of NASCAR's biggest dilemmas: progress vs. tradition and Smith's growing monopoly of Cup tracks.

As NASCAR officials continue to laud 2008 as "the year of the core fan" in an attempt to renew interest in the sport, Smith's purchase of Kentucky Speedway is a direct sneer at the longtime supporters NASCAR hopes to re-engage — who are tired of seeing more of the same thing on a different day.
